Colonials, Movin' in an Active World, Recall a History

The movin' Colonials experienced victory and defeat, ecstasy and agony, success and failure, activation and boredom. Encountering the tremendous with the degrading, the students of CHHS enjoyed and endured unique happenings. Metamorphosis characterized a year swelled with events and remembrances. Eternal memories were engendered as Colonials moved through.

Transformation Evident in Administration

Movement abounded with the members of the administrative staff of CHHS. From the Superintendent of Schools to the teachers themselves, as many new faces as old appeared. Such a metamorphosis was concurrently evident in the arrival of novel methods of instruction.

In English classes the study of grammar and literature was fused, rather than separated into semesters as in previous years. Accordance with modern times suggested future scheduling by computers, an action designed to relieve the abundance of work in the Guidance Department. "College Nights" provided both the student and his parents an opportunity to investigate such confusing, complicated items as college board tests, college applications, and financial aid for the college-bound student. Weekly jaunts to the bowling alley enlivened physical education classes.

Despite the numerous changes throughout the school system, the eternal movin' spirit of the Colonials remained.

Counseling Moves to all Environments

The 1968-69 school year at CHHS evidenced the metamorphic role of the modern teacher. Each succeeding year presents the teacher with an increased number of students, each possessing an increased number of problems. Additional involvement by both teachers and students in extracurricular activities produced an exalted degree of mutual understanding and friendship. Pupils desiring assistance obtained it—from the administrators, the guidance counselors, and individual teachers. The knowledge and utilization of such aid enlivened and strengthened all CHHS-ers.

CHHS

School Spirit Soars To Heights

One flag, one stick, one student body. Individually these name common and familiar articles. However, in proper and enthusiastic combination, a vivacious product emerges: one school's spirit. Pep rallies and bonfires highlighted the pre-game festivities at the close of each week. There was that novel dimension this year, however: additional spirit.

The red, white, and blue spirit stick, a coveted possession awarded for one week to the organization or class displaying the greatest amount of school spirit during the previous week, brought forth instantaneous cheers and applause from the students whenever the stick was merely waved in the air by its temporary owner. In addition to the traditional red, white, and blue flag of America, CHHS flew its own flag of the same colors at full mast following an athletic victory and at half mast after a defeat.

Even though the flag may have descended at times, school spirit remained at the peak with a slogan "Raise That Flag."

Activities

No school year could possibly be complete without the presence of various organizations for student participation. Whatever one's interests, clubs ranging from the Rifle Club to the Future Homemakers of America offered something for everyone in the line of extracurricular activities. Selective clubs including the National Honor Society, Key Club, Keyettes Club, Interact Club, Quill and Scroll, and Girls' and Boys' Monogram Clubs maintained specified standards for membership, supplying attainable goals for industrious students. Business, foreign languages, and other organizations designed in accordance with scholastic courses united their members with the intention of exchanging beneficial ideas and performing various services.

A majority of CHHS's teachers acted as sponsors of one or more organizations. Such extracurricular relations among students and teachers engendered higher degrees of cooperation and enjoyment for all concerned.

Guiding and coordinating activities among and within the clubs, the Student Cooperative Association and the Interclub Council remained consistently animated and continued to lead the movin' CHHS organizations.

Athletics Move Up

A lot of sweat, long hours of practice, and competitive spirit comprised the main reasons behind the improved schowing of CHHS in the field of sports. All new coaches guided those participating in sports at CHHS. Playing a major role in sports improvement was the school spirit of the student body. This spirit was enhanced by the appearance of the spirit stick and the CHHS Flag. Combining all the above reasons, CHHS had the first winning season of the gridiron in years. Returning to CHHS after a year's absence, the girls' basketball team came on strong. This team along with the girls' softball team offered the girls two means of participation in a varsity sport. The 1969 basketball team received a boost from several strong players who moved up from J.V. and transfer student Bruce Jansinsky. District record holder Bobby Johnson led the CHHS track men. Thus '68-'69 promised a year of victory and improvement for sports on the move at CHHS.

Festivities Mark Homecoming Event

Homecoming 1968 consisted of weeks of exhilarated preparation for the pre-game half time festivities on November 1 and the dance on the following night. Candidates for Homecoming Queen, each representing a school organization, composed a pre-game parade of brightly decorated cars. At half time, the candidates' fathers escorted them onto the field. Excitement soared as Miss Mary Barnes and Miss Janice Hope were named second and first runners-up, respectively. Tension peaked with the announcement and crowning of the 1968-69 Homecoming Queen, Miss Gayle Freeland.

Each class and the SCA presented their interpretation of the 1968 Homecoming theme, "Wonderful World of Color." The prize for the float most in keeping with the theme was awarded to the Freshman Class for their float, "Over the Rainbow."

The annual Homecoming Dance, November 2, climaxed and completed a spirited and a memorable week. "Love Is Blue," the theme for the dance, made feasible colorful decorations and an unforgettable evening for all participants.

Girls Combat in Junior-Senior Contest

Against the wishes and better judgment of many parents, the fighting girls of the Senior and Junior classes knocked heads in the annual Junior-Senior Powderpuff Football game. Held on November 23, 1968, the game was preceded by several practice sessions where the girls prepared themselves for the upcoming gruesome evening.

Juniors immediately displayed their ability and desire for a victory when, in the play following the kick-off, Cheryl Poole ran thirty-one yards for the Juniors only touchdown. Michele Helmick evened the score later in the game when a quarterback sneak provided the Seniors' points. Despite the determined showings of both teams, the efforts produced a tied final score of 6-6.

Jimmy Mann, elected Powderpuff King for 1968-1969, was crowned at half time by Senior head Cheerleader, Ron Hagar. Male cheerleaders for both teams furnished a touch of comedy and boosted the female players to their spirited performance.

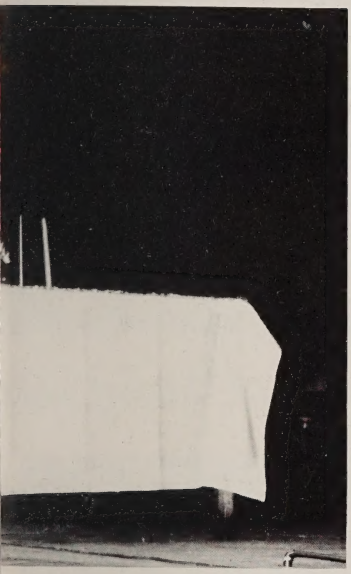
School Leaders



Janice Hope enthusiastically describes her week at Radford College for student body.

CHHS was well represented at the annual Girls' and Boys' State Conventions. The week-long June conventions are intended to acquaint young citizens with the operations of our democracy and the role of the individual in it. Valerie Adams, Jo Ann Cooksey, Janice Hope, and Joy Sponsler attended Girls' State at Radford College, while Bill Dance, Bob Dance, Philip Payne, and Richard Ward visited the College of William and Mary for Boys' State. Activities included not only entertainment by guest speakers, talent shows, and band concerts, but also general hard work designed to produce a sound knowledge of the conduction of our government.

The Installation Assembly was held for the purpose of installing the 1968-69 SCA officers and club presidents. Each outgoing SCA officer presented the newly-elected officer with a symbol of the particular office and asked that he repeat the oath of his office. Club presidents recited a general oath of office.

Colonials Abound in Culture, Talent, and

For the first time, CHHS sent a team of five to appear on the High School Bowl on station WWBT. Although they lost to Lee Davis, the appearance marked the addition of another opportunity for students of CHHS to participate in cultural activities. Richard Ward spread the name of CHHS around the state as he won the district competition in the Voice of Democracy contest. Other opportunities in this area were afforded to students participating in the various choral music, art, and drama groups at CHHS. The work of these groups was presented to the student body in the form of concerts, exhibits, and plays.

Staffs Execute Vital Duties

Lunch time at any school is a bright thirty minutes in itself. However, the students of CHHS possess one distinguishing factor—the courteous ladies composing the cafeteria staff led by Mrs. Ketcham. Preparing a full meal for 450 students and never failing to have it ready on time required much skill and patience.

Another invaluable service was that performed by the maintenance staff of CHHS. This staff remained ever on the move to maintain the attractive appearance of the halls, classrooms, and offices. Without these industrious workers, school life may have been much less enjoyable.

Students themselves shared the load by assisting in the library, clinic, and guidance office. Study hall time was donated as students relieved the bogged-down office staffs.

Academics

Movin' through daily formidable classes, continually contacting perplexing questions and stubborn students, the administration and faculty displayed abundant knowledge and skill in coping with the various situations of another school year. From explaining a subject to a less fortunate student before school to ushering a class out of the building during a bomb scare, each teacher guided those under his influence and prepared them for their individual futures. Despite the presence of several unfamiliar faces in the faculty, a sense of security prevailed for all as former and new teachers and students fused to engender a cooperative, productive society.

Policies Set by New Administrators

A complete change in the administrative department marked '68-'69 for CHHS. Mr. Lloyd Pugh, principal at the Junior High School in previous years, took the position of principal of CHHS. His past experience as an administrator helped Mr. Pugh as he effectively operated CHHS. Filling the duties of assistant principal was Mr. James Barker. Before assuming his new position, Mr. Barker had taught French here at CHHS.

Queries Busy Faithful Staff

CHHS's office staff consisted of six very capable and personable ladies. Answering telephones, welcoming visitors, excusing or comforting ill students, maintaining financial records, and assisting in the library, these ladies came in contact with many grateful students and teachers. Mrs. Terrell, the visiting teacher, discussed problems with teachers, parents, and students, attempting to alleviate student difficulties.

Debates, Diagrams, and Discussions Develop Student Talents

Although some may not have liked it, all the students of CHHS were on the move in English classes. With nine teachers, there was enough action for everyone. The course of study ran from Mark Twain to Shakespeare, and included poetry, short stories, novels, and drama. All phases did not appear to be all work though, with many classes having debates, speeches, lectures, and reports. Because of this student participation, English class was not just another period in the day.

Tongues Tied in Foreign Language Classes

The Foreign Language Department offered to all interested students up to five years of the study of French, Latin, or Spanish. Through text exercises and translations, students not only learned the language of France, Spain, or early Rome, but also a considerable amount about the history and government of the respective areas. Classroom variety stemmed from colorful slides, foreign films for the classroom, representative pictures, and individual reports on various aspects of the country associated with the language. Odd translations, humorous pronunciations, and cries of "It's Greek to me!" added gay notes to all levels of the language classes.

Presidential Election Sparks Debates

Maps, documents, historical figures, human advancement. These items constitute a brief roster of the many areas of study included in the Social Studies Department. World geography, world history, U.S. history, government, and advanced social studies—some required, some electives—provided the student with novel and different views about the world of the past, present, and future, and about the people who compose it. Films and television programs on current events, as well as debates, term papers, and special skits by the student body and honored guests informed and alerted the classes. With the 1968 Presidential election came another topic of involved and opinionated discussion and another source of knowledge for industrious social studies students.

Numbers Perplex Students

Several bewildered math students frequently found themselves questioning the disappearance of simple elementary arithmetic. While courses offered in the Mathematics Department did not present intangible difficulties, each contained enough novel material to keep even the top student alert. The various courses permitted each student to decide for himself what would be the extent of his background in high school math. In the classroom one could expect anything from a frightening call to the board to explain an impossible homework problem to a six-weeks test to determine the fate of his pending grade. Though many students may refuse to admit it, stimulation of the mind generally prevailed during the daily math session.

Students Prepare For Business Careers

The business department offered a wide variety of courses such as typing, shorthand, and bookkeeping to prepare students for employment. DE and VOT provided students with an opportunity to utilize these newly acquired skills. Local employers permitted students to obtain on-the-job training during the afternoons. Notehand and personal typing was offered for the third consecutive year and provided useful skills for college-bound students.

Specialization Starts With Special Arts

Students participating in the varied programs of the Special Arts Department discovered the opportunity to exhibit individual creative talents. Classes included industrial arts, mechanical drawing, electronics, home economics, and special education; involved were such antics as burned cookies and blown fuses. Classes in electronics and building management afforded students two- and three-hour working periods.

Bowling Adopted Into PE Schedule

For ninth and tenth-grade students health or physical education class fills a part of every school day. The Physical Education department, which included Driver Education, had an almost complete change of face this year as four of the five teachers were new at CHHS. Outstanding innovations included a bowling program whereby PE students participated in bowling every other week at a local bowling alley. Together with the regular PE and health program, these students improved their knowledge and control of their bodies.

Students Display Musical And Artistic Talents

CHHS provided a diversified fine-arts program for '68-'69. In his second year as band director, Mr. Jess Dowdy led the band as they successfully captured first place rating at the Williamsburg Band Muster. The band also performed at each football game and participated in various parades. Mrs. Boylston, choir director, assumed new duties at CHHS this year. She directed the choir, the Girls Ensemble, and the Madrigal Singers, a newly formed singing group. Mrs. Herndon instructed her art classes in the fundamentals and techniques of art. Some of the works of Mrs. Herndon's more talented students were displayed weekly in the front hall.

Counselors Render Assistance to Students

The guidance department was a familiar sight to the students of CHHS. The counselors played an important role in helping seniors apply for college admittance. In addition, underclassmen received assistance in scheduling their classes and in coping with their problems. The guidance office contained catalogs and other information to assist all students in planning their education.

Miss Spooner, as librarian, assisted students in finding books and using the library effectively. Through the efforts of Miss Spooner, the CHHS library presented a storehouse of knowledge and a quiet place to study.

Instructors Arrive

The arrival of another assemblage of horrified student teachers from Longwood College in Farmville, Virginia, meant a six-weeks' break from studying for some students, while others discovered the necessity for increased study periods. For the undergraduate teachers themselves, student teaching meant an abundance of effort, as well as long difficult hours and inquisitive students. Aside from the insurmountable fear that accompanied first-day teaching, each student teacher confessed her regret at leaving her transitory classes and converting again to a full-time student.

Classes

Movin' through the diversified phases of a high school career, students experienced disparate emotions, situations, and circumstances. Freshmen discovered their move from the Junior High to CHHS meant rapid maturity and surprising novelty. Sophomores labored in biology and geometry classes and awoke to the reality of severe intellectual competition. The Ring Dance occupied paramount interest for the members of the Junior Class. In the midst of applying to various colleges, industrious seniors planned their budgets in expectation of the Senior Prom and trip at the year's close.

Competition among the classes, although great, moved only as far as spirit signs. All students convened to create a congenial unification at CHHS.

Payne Leads Class of '69 For Two Years

Phil Payne discusses prom plans with sponsor, Mrs. Bass.

Led by Phil Payne for their junior and senior years, the Class of 1969 had a successful and memorable Junior Ring Dance with the theme "Hearts and Flowers." With the diligent labor of the class members, the Class of 1969 won a ten-dollar prize for the best float of the 1967 Homecoming floats. The executive board co-operated with Phil, and Senior Prom plans were completed. The Senior Prom promised even greater success than the Ring Dance. DEBRA ANN MOSES French Club 10; FTA 11,12; Powderpuff 11,12; Colonial Players 12; SCA 12; Courier Staff 11,12; Quill and Scroll 11,12 ROBERT THADDEUS MUSE Football 9,10,11,12; Band 9,10,11; Indoor Track 10,11,12; Outdoor Track 9, 10,11,12; National Honor Society 11,12; Boys' Monogram Club 10,11,12; Key Club 10,11,12; French Club 11,12; OMNIBUS '69 Advertising Editor 12; Powderpuff Coach 11,12; Quill and Scroll 12 MARCIA SHARON NESGODA VOT President 12; National Honor Society 12; FBLA 12 JANET LYNN NESTER Spanish Club 10,11,12; Girls' Monogram Club 12; Girls' Softball 11,12; Girls' Basketball 12; Powderpuff 11,12; SCA 11; Art Club 12 MARIA CANDIDA NORMAN FHA 12; SCA 9,10; DECA 10,11, 12 DEBORRAH SUE NICHOLS Pep Club 9; SCA 9,10; DECA 10,11,12 ERNEST DANIEL ODUM Boys' Monogram Club 11, Secretary 12; Class Secretary 10; SCA 11,12; Powderpuff Coach 11; Spanish Club 11, Vice-President 12; Football 9,10,11,12; Wrestling 11, 12; Track 9,10,11 CONNIE LOUISE OPFELL Pep Club 9,10,11,12; French Club 10,11; Latin Club 9; Most Intelligent; National Honor Society 11,12; Keyettes 12; Courier Staff 12; Quill and Scroll 12 HUNTER HOWARD PASCHALL Wrestling 10; French 11; Interact Club 11,12; OMNIBUS '69 Sports Editor 12; Quill and Scroll 12; National Honor Society 12 SANDRA LEA PAWLING Drama Club 9; SCA 10; Pep Club 10 PHILIP STEVEN PAYNE Wrestling 9,10; Band 9,10; Choir 10,11,12; National Honor Society 11,12; Key Club 11,12; Colonial Players 11,12; Executive Board 10; Interclub Council 11,12; Class President 11,12; Most Unforgettable JOSEPH EDWARD PERKINS Baseball 10,11,12 DEBRA JO PERKINSON Pep Club 9; Drama Club 9,12; Executive Board 11; SCA 11,12; OMNIBUS '69 Typist 12; Powderpuff 12; Quill and Scroll 12 LINDA GAIL PERKINSON Pep Club 11,12; Powderpuff 11,12

Class Of '69 Sets New Graduation Tradition

For the first time in the history of Colonial Heights High School, the faculty took an active part in the graduation ceremony. Wearing caps and gowns, the faculty preceded the graduates in their march onto the athletic field to receive their diplomas. The class of '69 began a tradition that they hope will continue for all Colonial Heights' Graduations.

Juniors Raise Money to Finance Ring Dance

Juniors advanced nearer to the realm of scholastic supremacy at CHHS. The class matured in actions, as well as in words. Throughout the year, the number two class undertook such projects as bake sales, dances, and car washes in order to increase funds for future use. With co-operation of the students, the class officers and executive board pursued any challenge with complete confidence of success.

Becky Beall, president, led the Class of '70 amidst a very spirited and memorable year. Activities multiplied and free time diminished. Practicing for the powderpuff game, pondering over Honor Society tapping, decorating for the Ring Dance, and various other events occupied the already minute-spare hours.

Band Renders Theme Song Highlighting Night

Following mounting anticipation and anxieties, the long awaited night of February 1, 1969, finally arrived. This one evening highlighted the year for many juniors because on that night they received that cherished symbol of distinction, their class rings.

The success of the dance depended upon the Class of '70 itself, with their president, Becky Beall, leading the way. Detailed planning preceded the decorating by diligent and faithful workers of the class.

The Ring Dance Committee chose "Three Coins in a Fountain" as the theme for decorating. The CHHS gym was transformed into an illusion of a park at night. As the attractive couples arrived at the "park," the realization of this moment became more convincing. This event certainly left memorable impressions in the minds of the juniors who attended.

Chemistry Astounds

Stifling fumes frequently edged their way into the halls of CHHS. These irritating odors originated in none other than Mr. Reed's chemistry lab.

On experiment days, the students appeared skeptical and uneasy. Expressions of dread overshadowed once smiling faces. This feeling increased as the students read the "CAUTION" in their lab books. However, some brave comrades fearlessly entered the class with complete confidence of their own judgment.

Broken test tubes, singed hair, spilled acids, and a smoke-filled room typified a normal day of chemistry at CHHS. This experience definitely established a memorable impression on the students, both physically and mentally.

PSAT Challenges The Minds Of Prospective College-Bound Students

On the morning of the PSAT tests, a vast number of juniors experienced a battle of the minds. One's long-acquired knowledge was utilized to capacity for answering questions which covered almost every aspect of life. While peering into their brains for solutions to inquiries never imagined possible, juniors suddenly understood the importance of studying. For the Class of '70 the PSAT tests began the realization of college eminence. Throughout the remainder of their high school career, drainage of mental strength would not be uncommon.

Sophomores Undertake Calendar Sales

As inhabitants of CHHS for a previous year, sophomores entered the 1968-69 school term with familiarity surrounding them. A feeling of slight superiority prevailed over the Class of '71 because they no longer existed as the youngest at CHHS. Their hesitance and uncertainty of last year vanished and was replaced by confidence and experience.

Sophomores, having had the opportunity to acquaint themselves fully with various clubs, became involved in extra-curricular activities. Under the leadership of Ronnie Kuykendall, sophomores exhibited their ability in selling community birthday calendars. Class officers stressed this campaign as the main project of the year for increasing funds.

Action continued throughout the year for sophomores with sports, studying, clubs, dances, and leisure occupying much of their time.

'71 Homecoming Float Shows Pride for Team

Winning the spirit stick climaxed weeks of determination and willingness for the sophomores. Colorful signs and posters decorated the entire interior of CHHS, displaying never-ceasing spirit. Observing more and more signs each day soon became a commonplace occurrence. In addition, enthusiastic cheering at pep rallies, as well as at the games, created the stimulus needed for a successful team. The achievements accomplished by the Class of '71 displayed a classic example of the pride shown the Colonials by the whole student body.

Sophomores Dissect Frogs

Frogs developed few friendships as biology students prepared to dissect their specimens. Some female students shied away from such horrible creatures at first, but with coaxing from friends and teasing from enemies, all became brave. Learning the parts of the frog's body proved to be informative and interesting for almost everyone.

Biology lacked dull moments, especially on lab days. Examination of prepared slides provided a major and vital part of the course. Drawing from microscope observations supplied many hectic and trying hours for students.

Leaf collections, possibly the main project for the year, left unforgettable memories, whether pleasant or otherwise, for faithful biology students.

Students Develop Various Ways to Reduce Pressures of High School Life

Sophomores, as well as the remainder of the CHHS student body, experienced days of seemingly endless duties and obligations. Several meetings to attend, at least three tests to face, and a game to witness that night occupied active sophomores' limited time. After surviving such vigorous activities, one must somehow relieve tensions and tired bodies. Some found the answers, while others proceeded wearily to perform their next task.

Class Of '72 Captures First Place Honors At Homecoming Game

As the freshmen entered the halls of Colonial Heights High School for the first time, they appeared as nervous and hesitant figures. However, as the year progressed, they acquired self-assurance and became an active addition to the student body. The Class of '72, led by Bruce Chudoba, displayed their abilities and capacities by winning first prize for the best homecoming float. Freshmen prevailed over the upperclassmen a number of times, showing the most school spirit. They also undertook the task of cleaning up the football field after home games. The Class of '72 firmly established themselves as united and progressive members of CHHS.

Organizations

As the students of CHHS moved through their school activities, they discovered that one of the most interesting aspects of school life involved participation in school organizations. For '68-'69, school organizations ranged from the Honor Society to service organizations to special interest groups. The school organizations deserved a position of importance at CHHS because they provided for the participating students a chance to better his community, his school, and himself.

SCA Advocates Matchmaking and Motivates Blind Dating at the Chance Computer Dance

"Seniors First" was the battle cry of the SCA President at the end of the assemblies. The new action Campaign of the SCA flooded the school with an enthusiastic wave of spirit and participation.

Throughout the sports season, especially during spirit week, the SCA took part in the WLEE Spirit Petition Contest, sponsored mix-match day and silence day, and prompted homerooms to decorate doors displaying spirit.

At Christmas the SCA held a door decorating contest and decorated a Christmas tree in the main hall. The SCA worked in coordination with other area schools in a safety promotion program. Also the SCA presented an orientation program in the fall, posted the honor roll by six-weeks, designed and displayed a calendar of monthly events, and created bulletin boards.

Society Taps 36 Students

The flickering flames of 24 candles moved with dignity down the aisles of the dark auditorium and proceeded onto stage. Following a brief introduction by the president of the Honor Society, Marvin Cherry, and the Principal, Mr. Pugh, taut silence fell over the audience. Thirty-six gasps of pleasure were heard as worthy juniors and seniors were tapped for the highest honor in high school.

After oaths were repeated and constitutions and membership cards were distributed, a reception was held in the cafeteria in honor of the new members and their parents.

The Honor Society members also worked with the counselors in the guidance office and tutored students.

Key Club Aids MD Drive

"Hey, Jack, how about a box of peanut brittle?"
"No! It costs too much."
"How about you, Betty?"
"It's too fattening for me!"

These were familiar cries as the Key Clubbers tried to sell their boxes of peanut brittle. Besides selling candy during Key Club Week, the boys manned the concession stands at two home basketball games, attended a Keyettes banquet in their honor, cleaned the parking lot, and designated Monday of that week as Spirit Day. The Key Clubbers also painted the parking lot trash cans red, white, and blue. As a service to the community, they collected money for Muscular Dystrophy.

At Thanksgiving, the girls presented a basket of food to one of the janitors and the maid in order that they might have a more enjoyable holiday. In accordance with the J.F.W.C., the Keyettes raised money to buy a Tippy-Toes doll for a needy child at Christmas. Pep Club Provides Spirit Bus for Away Game Spectators

The Pep Club was responsible for transporting the Colonial Heights spirit to the out-of-town football and basketball games via the Spirit Bus. The buses pulled into the opponent's school rocking with spirit songs and cheers and certain of a victory.

Their peppy name was supported by the spirit committee making signs and decorating the goal posts at the Colonial Heights field. The club members were credited with the gym decorations for the homecoming dance.

FTA Greets Visiting Parents at City Schools

The present hand-raising generation of the Future Teachers of America will someday be on the other side of the desk. Their accumulated knowledge and experiences will exchange hands and take root and grow in the minds of future students.

The FTA had the opportunity of associating with teachers and other future teachers like themselves outside the classroom. The members served at a reception for the retired teachers of the Colonial Heights School System and prepared a farewell tea for the student teachers from Longwood College. They also worked with the Colonial Heights Education Association and served as hostesses at the city schools for visiting parents.

FHA Sells Doughnuts and Hot Chocolate

Linda Gibbs sells a doughnut and hot chocolate to Robin Ridout and other hungry students for a fund raising project.

The smell . . . the cause and result! A future homemaker left her banana bread in the oven too long and the burning odor penetrated the air.

The FHA shared their future career with the student body by selling doughnuts and hot chocolate in the mornings and by adorning rooms and halls with Christmas decorations.

Guest speakers attended the regular meetings of the club. The girls visited an orphanage on Valentine's Day and held a spring banquet in honor of the FHA members and their parents. Members also attended a District Federation meeting at Meadowbrook High School.

FBLA Girls Get Business Knowledge Through Experience in the Office

The Future Business Leaders of America are students who plan to take their school learning and venture into the business world. Besides taking business classes, the girls had experience typing and running off tests, study sheets, booklets, and other materials for teachers. They also gained experience by aiding Mrs. Diehl and Mrs. Hazlett by typing and mimeographing.

Art Club Visits Rodin Sculpture Collection

A bus unloaded Art Club members and other interested students at the door of the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts to tour the famous sculpture collection of Rodin.

The members had a Christmas workshop at which they made signs promoting spirit, contributed artwork to other school organizations, and sponsored a mystery box to raise money.

During Fine Arts Week, the Art Club chose an art show and art assembly to display their talents. They always kept the artistic influence in the front display case by showing the achievements of advanced art students.

Science Club Seals the Past Underground in a Time Capsule

What will the future hold? What unusual fads and club projects did the school year 1968-69 hold? These questions and hundreds more can be answered in the year 2000 when the future Science Club digs up the buried time capsule. School organizations contributed articles of great and minute value to put in the capsule to provide the future students with a reminiscence of the past.

Flying over the countryside in an airplane was another project of the energetic Science Club. Petersburg Airport planes took Science Club members and other interested students for their first spine-tingling plane ride. The field trip to Wallops Island added excitement for the adventure-minded members.

After Colonial touchdowns, the Science Club shot rockets over the field. Also members sitting in the stands flew a helium balloon with a hanging sign urging Colonials to victory.

French Club Travels to France Through Slides

Parlez vous bonne francais? Who needs to speak good French to profit from a worthwhile experience in a French Club meeting? The main qualification to join the French Club was to be a French student.

Each student toured the countryside of France and explored Paris nightlife without moving from his own seat. Each student sang Christmas carols, learned about the French children's Santa Claus, and had a sweet tooth for refreshments.

Such pleasures along with work and cooperation from individual members and committees made the French Club an ideal organization.

Gaiety Denotes Spanish Club Christmas Fiesta

The Spanish Club began the Christmas season with their annual Spanish fiesta in the school cafeteria. As the taco, sombrero, and Christmas package pinatas were broken with the bat, members and other guests scrambled to pick up the scattered candy. The fiesta also included Spanish bingo and refreshments. Under the direction of Chris Vavala, the Spanish I,II, and III students made the preparations for the fiesta.

The members ordered Spanish Club pins resembling a scroll with a laurel branch and bearing the engraved words "El Circulo Espanol." The club also sponsored a money raising dance after a home basketball game.

Colonial Players Open the Dramatic Season with the Thriller "Lights Out"

Screams of fright rang out in the auditorium of the Colonial Heights Junior High School. The screams resulted from the lights going out in the auditorium. The lights went out not as result of technical failure but as part of the plot in the Colonial Players' "Lights Out."

The Colonial Players made "Lights Out" such an extraordinary success at the high school that they were asked to present the play at the junior high school.

Besides their biggest production of the three-act play "Lights Out," the Colonial Players put on several other one-act plays such as "The Open Window" and the One-Act Play Festival during Fine Arts Week.

The Colonial Players consisted of an advantageous sponsor, Mrs. Oliff, a group of actors, makeup artists, a scenery crew, prompters, and a lot of courage and rehearsing to perform in front of the school and community.

Girls' Monogram Collects Food for the Needy

A dusty nose made an exit from a clean case full of sparkling trophies. The dirty work of cleaning the trophy cases was completed and the reward was viewing the reflection of a face.

The club's most worthwhile project, in conjunction with the Chesterfield Welfare Department, was collecting food at school for needy families in order that they might have a plentiful Christmas holiday.

The girls made the first football game a more memorable occasion for the cheerleaders and majorettes by furnishing them with flowers. The club also sponsored a representative to Girls' State.

Staff Creates A Mod Ecstatic Omnibus '69

Deadlines! The time set as a limit for completion of any operation beyond which disaster is imminent. No member on the staff met the pending disaster but a few just escaped by the skin of their teeth.

The annual staff room often served as a second home for diligent workers trying to meet their deadlines. Solid, concentrated work was a necessary constituent to brew a varietal '69 OMNIBUS. Zest and gratification were direct by-products of the hard work and effort.

OMNIBUS sales soared as a result of Sharlotte Summerlin's publicity campaign and David Strough's artistic ability for making mod circulation posters.

Colonials Stride With Varsity Cheerleaders' Spontaneity and Spirit

Eleven beneficial reasons Colonial Heights High School had robust never-ceasing spirit were the vibrant Varsity Cheerleaders. Their spirit building tactics were surprising not only to the players but to the student body.

At 6:30 in the morning a pajama-clad figure jumped from a stopped car and planted a victory sign in a player's yard. The cheerleaders introduced the spirit stick, plastered the walls with signs, conducted pep rallies, and sold ribbons. On game days at school, they surprised the players with telegrams or lollipops or victory crowns, and they decorated the boys' locker room before the games.

Even before school began, the cheerleaders were learning new cheers and winning recognition at cheering camp at Chowan College.

JV Cheerleaders Get New Basketball Uniforms

The impossible dream of the once upon a time Junior Varsity Cheerleaders came true for the present set at the beginning of the basketball season. The old tradition was broken and a new tradition was started with a touch of flair and navy blue. Their jumper style uniforms were complemented by red knee socks and white tennis shoes.

The J.V. Cheerleaders were always at the CH football field before varsity football games to sell programs for the Athletic Association. During the Christmas Season, the cheerleaders made Christmas cards which they gave to the basketball players along with candy suckers.

The singing groups performed for the Rotary Club, the Kiwanis Club, and the Lions Club and made appearances at Ivey Memorial Church and Fort Lee Service Club. In the spring, the choir attended the Regional Chorus.

Majorettes, Minutemaids, and Flag Girls Exhibit High Stepping Routines During Football Season

The new royal blue uniforms caught the eye of the anxiously awaiting spectators. The majorettes once again captured the audience's attention when they portrayed characters in Santa's Toy Shop in the Christmas Pageant. Accompanying the band on all their excursions, the majorettes performed various routines.

The Minutemaids, a marching group outfitted in Colonial uniforms, constructed a horseshoe to display in the front hall expressing their congratulations to the football team on their victories. They also presented the football players with helium balloons.

The Flag Girls accompanied the band for each marching performance and bore the flags in a colorful array.

Sports

The Colonials were movin' up to victory and down to defeat throughout the '68-'69 school year as they participated in a sports schedule which included football, basketball, wrestling, rifle, baseball and track. Sports supply a new and different dimension to school life. With all new coaches, a spirit stick, and the CHHS flag as additions to the realm of sports, the sports life of CHHS received a revitalization and boost which sent it soaring. Having this new atmosphere surrounding them, the players and the student body progressed, although their efforts did not always lead to victory. Victory or not, however, a new trend in school spirit and athletic participation appeared at CHHS.

Gridmen Produce 5-4-1 Season

Under the direction of new head coach, Bill Mountjoy, the 1968 Colonials football team achieved its first winning season in Group I-A competition. Using a powerful running attack and an unyielding defense, the Colonials sported a 5-4-1 record.

The Colonials played host to Matoaca in their season opener. Two touchdown passes by Mike Bass paved the way to a 19-6 victory.

In their encounter against Hopewell, the Colonials toppled 9-0.

A combined team effort enabled the Colonials to upset Patrick Henry by a score of 24-0.

Baby Colonials Open With 20-0 Victory Over Patrick Henry

Under the leadership of two new coaches, Pete Tosh and Lamar Jordon, the Baby Colonials brought home an impressive record of three wins, three losses and one tie. Highlights of the year were a 20-0 opening victory over Patrick Henry and a 13-7 season final victory over arch rival Petersburg. Paul Godwin, David Richardson, and Jack Vavala carried most of the load in the back field while Todd Ramsey, Ralph Barfield, and Liston Laine were the nucleus of a determined line. Injuries plagued the Colonials through the first half of the season, but they came on strong at the end and they can be expected to build a fine varsity team in the future.

Maitland Ties School Point Record

Opening the season with consecutive wins over Lee-Davis and Patrick Henry, the 1968-69 Colonial Heights basketball team appeared to be very promising. The new coach, Joe Lanford, in a move to best use available talent and inspire unity, introduced a different brand of basketball. However, from this point the Colonials went into a slump winning only 1 of their next 8 games, that being at the expense of Huguenot. Next the team won their second game over Patrick Henry by a decisive score of 72-59. Robbie Maitland tied the school record for the most points in a game, 29. In their next encounter, an upset-minded team went on to defeat high-rated Prince George 71-64. Traveling to Thomas Dale, the Colonials ended up on the short end of a 61-53 score. With five games remaining, the Colonials had compiled a record of 5 wins and 8 losses.

Robbie Maitland, Marty Baird, and Robbie Pond were consistent point makers behind the fine playmaking of Bob Dance and Tony Brown.

Junior Varsity Shapes Up As Games and Season Progress

The Colonial Heights Junior Colonials compiled a record of 4 wins and 9 losses with 5 games remaining. The team, coached by Les Goode, opened the season by crushing Lee-Davis 67-30. Eight straight setbacks greatly weakened their record to 1-8. In this stretch, 3 games were lost by a total of 8 points. However, from here the Junior Colonials went on to beat Lee-Davis for a second time and also to revenge earlier defeats suffered at the hands of Patrick Henry and Thomas Dale. John Hallstead, a sure double-figure scorer, was the leading point man for the team. Joe Prygodzinski, Bruce Brown, Jack Vavala, and Rick Toombs also performed well and are expected to contribute to our future varsity teams. Hours of practice profited the Junior Colonials in the long run because it served to develop coordination and reaction.

After Promising Start, Colonials Falter To 6–10 Season

Due to heavy losses by graduation from the previous year, the 1968 Colonials baseball team went into the season rated lowly for top spot in the Central District. Surprising everyone, they won their first 2 games and then suffered 6 straight losses. They ended their season winning 3 out of their last 5 games. Weak hitting and a poor defense harassed the Colonials through the first half of the season. Bubba Sneade, Tommy Cheeley, Glenn Crowshaw, and Mark Watkins led the team in batting while Harry Dobrick and Bobby Wade provided some excellent mound work.

JV's Defeat Petersburg Twice During Season

The Junior Colonials had a very successful season winning 8 games and losing 4. Averaging 5.5 runs per game, the Colonials had one of the best offenses in the district. Bruce Brown and David Richardson turned in some fine pitching performances while Mike Bass, Rusty Spain, Herbie Hernandez, and Ricky Toombs provided consistent hitting. After a shaky start, the Colonials came on to win 5 out of their last 7 games with most decisive victories of 13-3 over Petersburg and 14-4 over Chester Intermediate.

Rifle Team Sets Sights On Successful Shooting Season

The Rifle team and club of Colonial Heights High School are groups composed of both boys and girls interested in the skill, sportsmanship, and safety of target shooting. Members of the club were required to finish a six-hour course of instruction on safe and proper handling of firearms taught by club sponsor, Mr. Leo Wright. The club met for practice every Tuesday night at the Ft. Lee Range. Exceptional members of the club formed the team composed of five members who competed with other schools, colleges, and universities.

Wiberg And Johnson Spearhead Track Team

The 1968 Colonials track team finished its season winning 4 and losing 6. With many underclassmen carrying the load, the Colonials had a great rebuilding year and are expected to be winners in the future. John Wiberg, leader of the team with 124 points, consistently took first in such events as the pole vault and the hurdles. Bobby Johnson, a strong performer, always seemed to gather points in the 100, 220, 440, and 880.

Highlighting the year was a 79-52 romp over the Crimson Wave. The cindermen closed their season with 2 close heartbreaking defeats of 75-56 to Lee-Davis and 79½-58½ to Thomas Dale.

At the end of the year John Wiberg received the Most Valuable Player trophy. Other honors went to Bobby Johnson, Best Runner; Bob Muse, Best Fieldman; David Tardy and Bobby Thompson, Co-Captains award; and Larry Bell, Most Team Spirited.

Grapplers Blank Royals 54-0

With three matches remaining, the 1968-1969 wrestling team had a record of five wins and four losses. They started off with impressive wins of 42-17 and 31-20 over Prince George and Thomas Dale respectively. Four straight setbacks at the hands of Meadowbrook, Douglas Freeman, Huguenot, and Spotsylvania dropped the Colonials record at 2-4, The matmen came on to stomp Dinwiddie with a 49-3 win before smothering Prince George with a 54-0 shut out. The team was coached very capably by Lamar Jordan.

Goode's Girls Gain Ground In District

Comprised largely of returnees, the Girls' Softball team looked for ward to another successful year. After dropping a 10-6 decision to Dinwiddie in their second game, they went on to win 7 out of their last 8 games. A strong offense aided by Barbara Boone, Jo Ann Lackey, Michelle Helmick, and Rosie Wilson led the girls to second place in the district. Bonnie Blanks pitched every game, turned in fine performances and went on to win the Most Valuable Player honor. Enthusiasm and determination led the Colonials to a 4-3 upset over Dinwiddie in their next to the last game before closing out the season with 31-1 victory over Matoaca.

Lady Colonials Battle District Opponents

After a year's absence from Colonial Heights, girls' basketball returned and brought home a successful record of 4 wins and 4 losses. The Lady Colonials won their first two games by substantial margins, before dropping their next two. They then went on to win 2 out of their last 4 games, ending with an even season. In their last home contest, the Lady Colonials revenged a loss suffered previously to them from Lee-Davis by edging the Confederates 21-20. Michelle Helmick, Brenda Hallstead, JoAnne Tucker, and Barbara Boone proved to be consistent point makers. Cathy Slater, Dianne Flexon and Lynn Nester were standouts on defense.

Movin' in and out of stores, up and down aisles, and back and forth across the street, the students of CHHS spent many hours shopping in stores and patronizing the businesses of Colonial Heights and the surrounding area.

Many CHHS students also supported Colonial Heights businesses as employees for various part time jobs. Some students obtained jobs through their Distributive Education or Vocational Office Training classes.

For the students of CHHS, the privilege of working for and purchasing from the Tri-City commercial establishments provided an opportunity for each student to grow and mature as he prepared for the responsibilities of adult life.

Good Gas Service Makes Warm Friends

Congratulations
Graduates!

Although now you are graduates, you can do a great service for the rest of us, if you never cease to be students – looking for opportunities and ways to cherish the American system of free enterprise and to improve the American way of life. You can be thankful for free schools in a country where you are free to worship and think and talk and work as you please. This is your heritage from the people who built America.

THE FUTURE is pretty largely in your hands – you must be vigilant and active to combat the evils of socialism, government domination of private industry, and all the "isms" that destroy democracy. The challenge is yours – meet it!

FOX MINI BIKES

the Harley-Davidson out-performers

So he's been without all summer! Now's the time to show him what a great fellow you are. Soften the blow of going back to school by giving him new wheels! Bring him down to Pinnell's and let him pick out a motorcycle or bicycle of his own. Then perhaps he'll get to school on time every morning.

If his sister needs a new bike, we have wheels for girls, too. Special discount on a pair!

Come On Down—We'll Be Looking For You

CHHS'ers Move Ahead

Movin' through unforgettable experiences afforded the Colonials enduring remembrances. The pace of the action soared with the year's rapid progression. Accompanying the realization of the pleasantries of the session was the awareness of the existing conflict between knowledge and ignorance—an eternal struggle which confronted alert students as equally as apathetic students.

Thus have we, the members of the Omnibus '69 staff, attempted to present a movin' image of Colonial Heights High School in 1968-69. For assistance in such a production we wish to acknowledge our sincere appreciation and gratitude for the services of Stephen Gates, Mark Degan, Jesse Pennell, and Bill Fountain—for assistance in photography; Mr. Lloyd Pugh, Mr. James Barker, Mrs. Charlotte Diehl, and Mrs. Mary Hazlett—for endurance of interruptions and annoyances; Mrs. Juanita Hundley—for guidance and endless patience.

Good luck
in CHHS
in the future

David, I can hardly believe another year has come and gone at C.H.H.S. How could you forget that crazy mixed up Study Hall with evil Old! Don't ever forget this year. Always be true to the class of '71 and to C.H.H.S.
Be good this summer and hope to see ya next year.
Love ya,
Diane

Hi Brother,
I don't know what to say.

David,
I know you don't expect much from me because you've seen me in study. Ya know I'm not much for words. It's to bad you don't work at Rich's anymore - but I don't go there anymore anyway. I was really going up there to see you - you'll never believe that! Have fun this summer and don't get into to much trouble. OK! Don't forget our emergency study hall.

See ya,
Bookie

David,
Don't forget our study Hall & all the things that went on in there. Just think - next year we'll be Juniors. Have a good time this summer and don't get into a whole lot of trouble.
Be good -
Love ya,
Deb, 11
